

BLOOD AT TIPPERARY.

BRUTAL ACTION BY THE POLICE AT O'BRIEN'S TRIAL.

Constables Charge on the Spectators and Their Haters Indiscriminately—John Morley and Timothy Harrington Assaulted.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Blood has again flowed in Ireland and police bludgeons have been used on the heads of unoffending citizens. Tipperary is the scene of the outrage and prominent Englishmen whose testimony will be believed by their countrymen were witnesses of the disgraceful scene. London has already reported over the news of the bloodshed published in the afternoon papers and the most sensational reports are in circulation. Telegrams from John Morley, Mr. Blagden and others received at the National Liberal club leave no room to doubt that the attack on the people was deliberate and unprovoked. When the people were attacked they defended themselves vigorously and many of the police were severely lacerated. Troops have been ordered to the scene and it is believed by the Liberal leaders that everything possible will be done by the castle officials and partisan magistrates to prevent a further conflict already reported to have taken place by ordering the troops to fire on the crowd. The people in Tipperary are excited enough to do anything and it requires the utmost efforts of their leaders to keep them quiet.

The trial of John Dillon, William O'Brien Patrick O'Brien, members of parliament, and at that town today was marked by another outbreak of the brutality which has been the feature of Balfour's government in Ireland. A large crowd of nationalists, embracing thousands of friends and sympathizers of the prisoners had gathered to view the proceedings. Just before the hour for calling the cases the crowd outside the court house had grown to prodigious proportions and the police was called upon to prevent the entrance to the building of any excessed persons interested.

F. A. Williamson, attorney at law and an Association against the opinion expressed by a citizen in this column. Mr. Williamson does not deny the main charge made against the National, viz, that it is an illegal national building and depends for its big profits on the wages of the crowd. He says the National is now and has been for some time in violation of the law. He says the National is now and has been for some time in violation of the law.

Arrests Come Too Thick and Fast for Jacob Dolor. When Jacob Dolor was arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon he was charged with slandering his neighbor and with attempting to take the life of his neighbor. He was charged with slandering his neighbor and with attempting to take the life of his neighbor.

John Morley entered the court greatly agitated and appealed to the bench to prevent such brutal and wanton beatings. Both Mr. Morley and Mr. Dillon appealed to Col. Caldwell to allow the public to attend the trial. Mr. Dillon refused, but ultimately the doors were thrown open and the general public admitted.

Mr. O'Brien said that the last time he saw Mr. Shannon he was at the head of a boat being towed by a tug. Mr. O'Brien said that the last time he saw Mr. Shannon he was at the head of a boat being towed by a tug.

Mr. Dillon objected to Mr. Shannon as a prosecuting attorney. Mr. Shannon had personally escorted him in a cab, when he (Mr. Dillon) had been grossly insulted. Mr. Shannon declared that he would perform his duty in an unbiased manner.

DEBILS, Sept. 25.—Thomas J. Condon, member of parliament for the eastern district of Tipperary was arraigned today at Limerick on warrants sworn out at the time the warrants for the arrest of John O'Brien were issued. Mr. Condon was conveyed at once to Tipperary.

Muskegon Democrats. MUSKEGON, Sept. 25.—The Democratic county convention was held here today at the Grand Rapids hotel. The weather today was very pleasant and the attendance unprecedented. It is estimated that nearly eight thousand people were on the grounds. The exhibits are excellent being far better than any ever held here. A gentleman from Grand Rapids remarked: "We cannot come here to see your city, because we have come here to see your law."

LOWELL, Sept. 25.—The Lowell fair is today was very pleasant and the attendance unprecedented. It is estimated that nearly eight thousand people were on the grounds. The exhibits are excellent being far better than any ever held here. A gentleman from Grand Rapids remarked: "We cannot come here to see your city, because we have come here to see your law."

PUBLIC OPINION.

I understand that for something like $540 the Western Union company will remove its poles from Canal to Front street and I am told that it will cost them several thousands of dollars to have the poles replaced. It is the policy of the council ordering the company to do this. If it refuses the company will believe the poles will be removed across the river. The company will send their telegrams through the Postal office. We don't like to have any corporation trying to run the city and we won't help them any if we can avoid it.

There has been something said about an increase of the police facilities, and I am greatly in favor of the idea. I find also that there are many who are inclined to the suggestions made, and it will be necessary before many months to increase the number of patrolmen and add new beats in the residence localities. There are several roads which require extra men from the department, and although there are only three men at the corners where the two railroads cross, the roads are so narrow that they are guarded to avoid serious accidents. There has already been one collision at the corner of the canal street and Wealthy avenue, and it is evident that the services of a patrolman are necessary at that point for the safety of the public.

Superintendent Chalmers seems to be a thoroughly active young man if by the newspapers are to be relied upon. He has been very busy in his schools, but perhaps the compliments are not entirely undescribed. I have heard several people pass light criticisms on the new superintendent and a number have been very frank and very open yesterday afternoon when he stopped, or rather staggered, out of a cab into the office of the Hoffman house. He lurched up against the bar and commenced to swear in a loud, hoarse voice. He was told to get out of the house and he said: "Say, John, that is not the kind of language for a gentleman to use."

"And who are you?" "I am now me, my ass here. You don't want to make any fuss here. The best thing you can do is to go home." John was finally induced to go out, and as he got into his cab he threw a handkerchief at the crowd. He was followed by a crowd of small boys scrambled for it. John told the driver to go to Jimmy Wynn's saloon. Billy Edwards went on a detour to talk to Sullivan, but the pugilistic gentleman had no use for him. He was told to get out of the house and he said: "Say, John, that is not the kind of language for a gentleman to use."

THE WHITEFIELD BOYS. Their Record Quite Well Known in This Section. There seems to be truth in the rumor from Astoria, Oregon, which announced that these boys giving the name of Whitefield had confessed to killing a man in Tacoma, Washington. The story was given by a man named Whitefield, who was a resident of Astoria, Oregon, and who was a member of the Whitefield family. The governor was introduced by John H. Hildreth, president of the society, and opened his address by referring to Niagara's wonderful growth in the last few years. He spoke of the fact that he had been to Mecca for all bridal couples, promising to go there himself when he got married.

That's why little Sydney Tucker was abducted. Found With His Father at Big Rapids and Both Brought Here. Lodged in Jail—Father and Son Settled. The child abduction case seems to have put on a new phase since the finding of the man who stole the boy and who claims to be his father. The rumor that the man had been detained at Big Rapids proved to be correct and upon learning that Mr. and Mrs. Tucker immediately went to Big Rapids to identify the lad. They returned on yesterday morning's train with the boy and his abductor followed by a great train and are now in the county jail.

A POOR EXCUSE

Made by the Coal Barons for Advancing Prices. NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—A dispatch from the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania in relation of the probable increase in the price of coal, owing to the scarcity of labor, as for several months past the miners have been leaving in large numbers from the mines. The most common excuse made by the coal barons for the advance in the price of coal is that the coal is scarce. The stock at the mines is larger than ever before. A LINE FENCE

Causes Trouble Between Prominent Citizens. LYON STREE, near the foot of the hill, was the scene of a little affair yesterday that may yet be settled in the highest courts of the state. The affair for the time being is a dispute between Mr. Meigs and Mr. Cartwright, who have had a bad run in the coat of Arthur Meigs no particular harm was done. From what could be learned last night it appears the attack upon Mr. Meigs was entirely unprovoked. HIGH TALKS AND PROGRESS.

THE SUBJECTS CONSIDERED BY THE ALDERMEN.

Special Session of the Council.—The Board of Aldermen met in special session yesterday afternoon at 7 o'clock. A resolution of the Council was adopted to hold a special session of the Council on the 27th inst. The subjects to be considered by the Council were: The appropriation of $10,000 for the purchase of land for a public square; the appropriation of $10,000 for the purchase of land for a public square; the appropriation of $10,000 for the purchase of land for a public square.

The city council met last evening in special session and knocked off something over $10,000 from the estimates submitted by the committee on ways and means. Five thousand dollars are stricken off from the general fund, $4,000 from the Superior court fund, $1,000 from the bridge fund, $5,000 from the police headquarters building fund, and on request of Alderman Tatum of the Third ward, $1,000 was taken off the highway fund of that ward. This last request was so peculiar that Alderman Tatum was asked to explain it, but he refused, but Alderman Tatum was in for reform and retirement and the council hurriedly passed the resolution.

The police headquarters building fund was cut by $5,000, and the amount was to be spread the burden over several years, on this matter as on others he wanted it distinctly understood that he was for economy and retrenchment and that he would not be asked to contribute to the support of the city. He was not asked to contribute to the support of the city. He was not asked to contribute to the support of the city.

THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

The third man in the pulpit. Editor Morning Press. It is some what amusing at the indignation manifested by a good Methodist brother Monday morning. He had been reading a sermon on temperance by Rev. Mr. Hastings, published in St. Louis, Mo. At the present juncture temperance is a very delicate subject for a clergyman to handle, unless he confines himself strictly to the moral aspect of it. But Rev. Mr. Hastings, in his sermon, took the other side, and put the political side to the very front of his discourse.

We can well imagine how uneasy his hearers were, for the minister was treading on dangerous ground. A very slight divergence from the position made and he would have been sure to tread on some of the metaphorical coals and behold, he did! His Republican brethren were much pleased, and so were all his Democratic brethren, but not his hearers. They were filled with righteous wrath as he asked the leading question "Should the temperance question be made a party issue?" and answered it by saying: "We cannot afford to do it. It is a party issue. To make the temperance question would suffer under the championship of the Prohibition party; that they would drag the issue in the dirt until it was more than this good brother could stand, for he feels that the Prohibition party is the forlorn hope of the temperance cause; the only way under Heaven given among men by which it can be saved." If Brother Hastings is right it follows that all lovers of temperance should at once forsake the new party and join their former parties; but if the good brother in question is right then Bro. Hastings is in a Christian pulpit! Feeling that he is right we can not blame this good brother for becoming as warm as Bro. Hastings in his advocacy and comfort to the "non-partisan movement."

The chief point of this brother's grievance, however, was that Mr. Hastings had taken advantage of the pulpit to make a party issue of the temperance question, by publicly advocating their battle cry, "Non Partisan."

Now, it is not my purpose to give my own opinion in what course should be pursued in this public demonstration, but I wish to show this good brother his political position. He, Mr. H., could not safely have done differently had he been so minded. Can a brother so openly and publicly advocate political prohibition, had he urged his congregation to vote for the prohibition party, had he brought upon himself the wrath of perhaps the majority of his church members, and then, on the next day, devotion to principle is very fine in poetry, while self sacrifice is heroic in action; yet after all, this is the practical question "the bread and butter question" is at the front and it can not be ignored.

Some of Bro. Hastings' congregation doubtless earn their bread by the sale of some office. The loss of even one vote in the coming election may mean a loss of their bread and butter. The salary and "perquisites" attached to the coveted office, and that office is held by the brother in question. Bro. Burchard, his parishioners then, to those pockets his salary comes, and he is compelled to give them a share in the Gospel, not to preach politics. We hire you with your salary, we implied in the contract, and we are not to advocate any doctrines contrary to the creed of this church, and we are not to imply that we are the prospect of any member of it. You must know that if you draw votes away from the church, you are taking away from the church, and Bro. Burchard, you know, is a liberal supporter of that church.

Bro. Hastings is very sweet to leave the preacher addressed as "Our dear pastor," and some of the members of the church know that he has earned money to keep up expenses view the preacher in a terribly practical way, and that he is not to be sweet to him. Sweeten it and soften it and disguise it as we may, the preacher of our day is not to be sweet to him (and our hired man, and if he does not please his masters he cannot complain that they are not sweet to him.)

Objects of the German Day. Editor Morning Press: In order that your readers may understand the true object of the German day, which will be celebrated in this city on Monday, August 14, allow me to state a few facts. The first object is to commemorate the first immigration of Germans in America, which landed in Germantown, near Philadelphia, on October 6, 1683, under the leadership of Franz Beckwith. Second, it is to call attention to the fact that there seems to be a feeling prevailing throughout the country antagonistic to Germans, expressed by prohibiting the German language in schools, and by the fact that we are not considering ourselves a separate people within a foreign state, but that we are true Americans; that while we have due regard for the country of our birth, our hearts are in the country of our adoption, and we desire to show to the world that we are not a people without a separate people within a foreign state, but that we are true Americans; that while we have due regard for the country of our birth, our hearts are in the country of our adoption, and we desire to show to the world that we are not a people without a separate people within a foreign state, but that we are true Americans.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

A CITY BELLE WHO MADE HER HOSTESS LOTS OF TROUBLE.

Erubing into Sunday Schools—Visiting Banners—A Novel Aid to Teaching—To Prevent Sunburn—A Nery Boston Girl.

Recently in an elegant home in an inland village a young woman paid a visit to her mother and a handsome, widely traveled and a charming talker. One would have expected her to be a delightful guest, but she was not. She remained four days. She was late to every meal, she sat up long after the usual retiring hour of the family, thus compelling some one to sit up with her, and she rose two or three hours after breakfast time. When the carriage was brought around she was writing an important letter. When the carriage had been put up she "longed for a drive" or must do some shopping at a distant hamlet, and the coachman made good by her caprices, had to be summoned forth again.

She had imperative work to do at the very end of the week, and on the day that a dinner party was given in her honor she spent so many hours writing "some letters for the Campaign," you know, that she had to excuse herself before half the courses were served because of a sick headache—of which she had been afflicted early in the day by her hostess, who knew her infirmity.

The friends of the afflicted family are now calling for congratulations, as the young lady has left. She departed characteristically, without, so to speak, a word of farewell. Her departure was marked airily as she entered the carriage: "So kind in you to take me—lovely trip. I'll see you in a week or so." She was full of apologies for the trouble she knew she had made; not a word of thanks for the unremitting exertions which her family had made for her, besides the shallow compliments which have been mentioned.

This young woman and those of her sex, who are so probably hopeless. But the mother of growing children may perhaps profit by this little story.—New York.

Erubing into Sunday Schools. The effect of a one-sided method upon the pupils gathered into Sunday schools by bribes of food, clothing and Christmas presents is a subject which "Erubing" means it! Bribes so openly offered and so shamelessly accepted that one wishes to think in whose name they are tendered, and that the children are not made of collecting the untoward waifs into classes. I could tell you stories of competition between called parishes, and "mission parishes," that would startle and confound you. Personally I have seen many of these things, and I have seen how they were offered by certain schools to attract and keep scholars.

Again and again I have been told in a business like tone that speaks more plainly than words of the prevalence of the evil practice: "Our children went for a walk in the snow on Sunday, and the boys and the girls were all dressed in the best we could get for our boys and girls."

I could name a dozen families that have been depended for much of their support upon such sources as city missions and Sunday schools. It is as much a matter of course to church and Sunday school as to work in a shop. If the records of interlarding parish schools could be compared it would be found that the number of children in the families pass in a certain order from one church cradle to another. It is like nothing else in the world, and it is the strangest part of it all is the gullibility of the parishes that are thus deceived. —Boston Herald.

bearing for which he is in debt, arose and gave them a cordial greeting. The mother of the babe, as she stepped to the salutation, said to Mr. Brooks:

"I have a favor to ask of you, and although it may seem a queer one, I am sure you will grant it."

"I have heard," continued the lady, "that if a colic-stricken baby takes a bath in the month it will assist it in teething, and make this otherwise troublesome period to children very easy to bear."

"I guess I can accommodate you, madame," replied Joy, and sitting the mother on the sofa, he took her in his arms and gave it two as sweet and resonant kisses as he was capable of bestowing—and Joseph is his proper name.—Boston Herald.

When this was done the mother took the child and the mother of the child, apparently perfectly satisfied the operation would give the infant relief from that pain incident to teething. They were, however, in error, and the mother from their actions firmly believed that caresses from a colored person would have the effect desired.—Monongahela Republican.

To Prevent Sunburn. The fair sex often seek eagerly for a preventive against sunburn. Some remedies are used by Dr. Roberts have resulted in the discovery of an infallible one, but one which, I am afraid, the woman will find too exacting in its conditions.

It is an acknowledged fact that the sun's rays are much more quickly than on rocks or in heated valleys at low elevation, and Dr. Roberts remarks that sunlight reflected from freshly snowed surfaces is much more energetic on the skin than that reflected from older snow. One brilliant day he painted his face with red and white stripes of Great Gray, where there was much snow. There were about eighty others making the ascent. In the evening all excepting Mrs. Miller, were suffering from the effects of sunburn.

A Nery Boston Girl. Miss L. Maude Pratt, daughter of S. B. Pratt, editor of the Boston Herald, is visiting the North Atlantic squadron, stationed in Boston Harbor, on Friday, August 14. She has been told in a business like tone that speaks more plainly than words of the prevalence of the evil practice: "Our children went for a walk in the snow on Sunday, and the boys and the girls were all dressed in the best we could get for our boys and girls."

Women Brickmakers in Chicago. A Chicago reporter was horrified the other day, during the strike among the brickmakers of the city, to find some one making brick on Ashland avenue above Diversey avenue. He told of his thrilling discovery to some brick-makers of another party.

Feminine names are constantly being doctored. The daughter of Sir George M. Pullman writes her name Harriette, and the daughter of the late General Sherman writes her name Harriette. At Birmingham there are forty-one women and only three men candidates for the Cambridge higher local examinations. At Bradford, twenty-four women; one man; Leeds, thirty-five women, two men; at Manchester, forty-three women, one man; at Liverpool, fifty-six women, one man.
