

THE MCGUINNESS FAMILY

ITS HISTORY AS WRITTEN FROM A POLITICAL STANDPOINT.

The Lawyers Who Have Been Trying to Oust Keat County's Sheriff Show Their Hand—The First Commencement.

Yesterday morning N. A. Barle presented to W. F. McKnight for his official signature a formidable looking document. It was in the nature of an application for quo warranto proceedings to oust from office John McQueen, by grace of the people of Keat county sheriff. Mr. McKnight refused to sign the document on the grounds that the action is sought, not in the name of the people, but in behalf of Isaac F. Lamoreaux. Mr. Barle will apply to Attorney-General Ellis next week for his signature to commence proceedings to compel John McQueen to show his hand.

Mr. McQueen was seen by a Monitor reporter at his residence yesterday. He had not heard of the proceedings, but had started and to a direct question of the reporter as to his citizenship, he said vehemently, "I am an citizen and I will stay here." He positively refused to sign anything more.

The next move was to find the nature of the evidence against McQueen, that readers may judge as to its merits. The evidence is composed of a large number of affidavits, together with copies of the sheriff, together with copies of the family record in the family bible and certified grants and deeds conveying lands from father to son and son to brother.

The evidence introduced is about as follows: Alexander McQueen, came from England in the year 1756 as a soldier in the Scott Greys and fought under Montgomery at Quebec. From an old man which stood at the head of Alexander McQueen's grave at Ft. Howe Heights, Norfolk, county, Ont., the following inscription is taken: "Dedicated to the memory of Alexander McQueen, a native of Scotland, who was with the 68th Regiment at the battle of Quebec, receiving 21 wounds. Departed this life July 10, 1804, in the 53rd year of his age."

Shortly after the conquest of Quebec the family removed to Keat county, where his children being Alexander, Daniel, Daniel, Hugh, John and William, married three four daughters. Daniel, the grandfather of John, (the sheriff), was married in 1793 to a daughter of John, Daniel, Hugh, John and William, married three four daughters. Daniel, the grandfather of John, (the sheriff), was married in 1793 to a daughter of John, Daniel, Hugh, John and William, married three four daughters. Daniel, the grandfather of John, (the sheriff), was married in 1793 to a daughter of John, Daniel, Hugh, John and William, married three four daughters.

ARRESTED FOR ARSON

Sensational Revivis of a Little Fire on Keat Street Yesterday Morning.

Dana and August Bostwick, living at 32 Nagold street, are in the county jail on charges of arson. The facts so far as learned in the case are these: Early yesterday morning the people occupied the house at the above number were awakened by a noise in the rooms occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bostwick. Going to the stairs door the owner of the house asked Bostwick occasion of the noise and was informed that the house was on fire. Bostwick, however, refused to open the door when asked and an alarm of fire was the result.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The Cincinnati Equiper said of the big company that opens a week's engagement at South's opera house this evening.

The Cincinnati Equiper said of the big company that opens a week's engagement at South's opera house this evening. The company is the best that has been seen in this city for many years. The show is replete with novelties. The burlesque, in three scenes, is one of the special features of the show, and this is the only burlesque ever shown on the first act of the burlesque, in which are introduced topical songs, funny jokes, etc. Senora Neva Tarril opens the show in a very clever opera act, and she is heartily applauded. Burke and Forrest were next on the bill, and to say they made a hit would be putting it mildly. Husted and Barle, the clever comedians, were well received. F. Pullman, the musical wizard, brought down the house, by the biggest hit of all, "The Holy and the Holy," which was warblers. Their act is entirely new in this city. Low Carlo, known as the "Singer of the Future," was heard three or four times. The whole concluded with the "Singer of the Future," "Mo and Jack." The entire show is a grand one, and should do a large business.

A Very Strong Man.
The genuine derives the ancient English saying of the "Four Alls" may not have been a person of quality or an article of renown, but he was undoubtedly a shrewd observer and a political economist of no mean caliber. The sign had on it four figures: the first a king, labeled "All the world"; the second a priest, with the legend "I pray for all"; the third a soldier, with the inscription "I fight for all"; and last a farmer, whose head was "I pay for all".

The assertion of the farmer is of course too sweeping to be strictly correct, but there is more truth in it than many people may imagine. We are inclined to make merry over "Old Hayseed," to put him on the stage as a figure to be laughed at, but the fact is that the comic papers, and to esteem him the proper prey for the unscrupulous bunco steerer, but the filler of the fields and the combiner of wheat is a much more important man in the commonwealth than is generally conceded. Just now the "Farmers Alliance" is showing that this same tiller and tender is a very strong man when he gets himself together and declares his intention to take a hand in the political affairs of the nation.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Canadian Opinion.
Why is the American farmer so much worse off than the Canadian farmer? Because the Canadian farmer has had the advantage of cheap sugar, cheap kelp and other European goods. The United States tariff is some 30 per cent higher than our own. Hence the American combiner has been able to rob the American farmer much more than our combiner has been able to rob our farmer. This is one of the reasons why Canadian farmers have been slowly adding to their capital, while American farmers of like geographical and climatic situation have been positively and invariably going backward.—Mr. Thomson in Ottawa Citizen.

They Will Find Him a Power.
Hon. Jerry Simpson is a man with a powerful personality, and the newspapers of the country are beginning to take him seriously into account in the not distant future. We disagree with him as to the relative importance of the currency question, but it is time that eastern newspapers were beginning to understand that some of the men who are coming to the front through the political movements in the west are natural leaders who will retain a prominent place in our politics. Mr. Simpson comes of these.—New York Standard.

An Amusing Scene in Court.
One of the "rings" most unexpected scenes ever witnessed in a theatre occurred at the Theatre Royal for Manchester. The curtain drew back on a scene of the most amusing nature. The jury consisted of the Hon. Mr. Bardsley, Mr. Pickwick, when the whole of the jury mysteriously disappeared, the court suddenly giving way and ingling the "good men and true". At first the vast audience who crowded every part of the theatre were silent, but some dreadful scenes were enacted, but as the unlucky juryman rapidly reappeared, unharmed, though looking very red, they broke out into a perfect hurricane of laughter, which lasted several minutes.

The curtain had to be dropped to allow the jury to be "boxed" again. Mr. Toole began his address he provoked another burst of risibility by alluding to the jury as that worthy body of steadfast and immovable men.

A peculiarly amusing feature of this novel scene was the fact that the majority of the "rings" were composed of those who duty it was to cross the court, and they entered in to the case for their own carelessness.—London Tit-Bits.
