

MURDER AT MANISSEE

JACK KEBBE KILLS HIS MOTHER

And Fatally Wounds His Wife - A Whisky Soaked His Bloody Work with a Beer Glass.

MANISSEE, June 20.—The most brutal murder since the killing of Herbert Fields by Vanderpool, occurred here this morning at 6 o'clock. Jack Kehbe, a notorious gambler, had been drinking and protracted a spree for a week, and this morning before opening up his saloon he had some words with his wife, when his mother-in-law, known by the sobriquet of "Mother Duke," interfered. The mother-in-law had been on the old hand filled her to the floor, afterwards taking a beer glass and smashing her skull to a jelly. Mrs. Kehbe ran to her mother's assistance, and was struck a blow on the face which she felt was a mortal blow. She fell to the floor, and was killed by a blow on the head which she felt was a mortal blow.

But He Was a Nice Fellow, Not Meant to Kill Her - Kettle's Creed

CHICAGO, June 20.—Darby day was a Chicago day here today. Chicago's "400" attended in a body and when the great race started all of the society leaders were present. The day dawned cloudy and with drizzling rain, but toward noon it cleared up and the sun shined brightly. The track clouds were cheered everywhere. The race was one of the most exciting in the history of the track, and the sun's warm rays did it up somewhat at 4 o'clock the track was in a perfect state of excitement. As early as 1 o'clock Michigan boulevard was filled with fashionable society, and the race was one of the most exciting in the history of the track.

A PLAYFUL COIT

Caused a Serious Runaway on Monroe Street

Yesterday afternoon while Walter McNitt, of McNitt Bros., was driving a horse-drawn carriage on Monroe street, the colt kicked for play, and in some way got the advantage of Mr. McNitt. The colt was hitched with a stealer horse, and for some reason they both became frightened and ran up Monroe street at a furious rate. In front of the Woodruff block the colt came in contact with the driver's muscles, and he fell. The colt, however, kept on until he struck in front of the Immen block. Here the wound was temporarily cared for, and the horse removed to McNitt's barn, where two pounds of the quarter mule was removed. Fortunately McNitt escaped without being injured.

POLICE COURT MATTERS

Another Chapter in the Trial of George Trout for Stealing Cars on Fulton Street

Peter Han, an old-time sport, was committed to the county jail yesterday by Justice Westfall on a charge of a fine of $2 and costs, for being drunk. Wm. English, for being drunk, was discharged on suspended sentence. Albert Wolf, one of the first arrests made in connection with the strike for placing obstructions on the car tracks, was charged with disorderly conduct, was discharged on suspended sentence. Michael Conroy, also arrested in connection with the strike and charged with disorderly conduct, was discharged on suspended sentence.

John Bark, arrested for violating the dog ordinance, pleaded not guilty, and the case was adjourned until June 29. Charles Holman, in whose possession ex-Mary Kilman's horse and buggy were found, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny, and in default of $500 bail, was committed to await the adjournment of the court.

The Police Returned

The wood carver of Grand Rapids, wishing to place on record our disapproval of the police officers, as they were in their manner of arresting a number of the city in the night, thus leaving their families without protection from thugs with which the city seems to be infested, notwithstanding the opportunity which was taken of a more reasonable.

LUDDINGTON'S CASE

George Luddington, it will be remembered, was convicted in the Superior court of assault and battery, and sentenced to one year and six months at Ionia. The complaint was a boy by the name of Mann who has figured largely in the courts and attained quite an unsavory reputation. Luddington and Mann quarreled last fall over some chewing tobacco and the quarrel resulted in an attack by Luddington. It was alleged Luddington beat Mann and cut him in the back with a knife and was arrested for a year and six months at Ionia.

THE COOK WELL SYSTEM

HOW THE WATER IS FOUND AND GATHERED.

The system of water supply which the Cook Well company proposes to put in for the city is called the tube well system. A main is laid in the ground about four feet below the surface. At varying distances on either side of this main, eight-inch tubes are sunk into the earth for a sufficient distance to strike flowing water, which ranges from 30 to 90 feet according to locality. These tubes are connected with the main by means of the same diameter, which enter the main at right angles. The tubes are made of standard wrought iron with patent iron strainers at the bottom. The tubes are eight and the water which flows into them comes through the strainer from the bottom of the well. The main can be made to extend any distance necessary. When a vein of ground water is found a system of tubes can be sunk along for half a mile or more until sufficient flow is secured to meet the demand. The accompanying cuts will give some idea in a general way of the method of sinking wells under the Cook Well system.

The system is now in use in Memphis, Tenn. System, Fayette, Wayne, Dayton and many other cities. Dayton claims the best water of any city in the world. The Dayton Journal says: "During the months of July and August, 1887, the water from the wells of the city of Dayton was of a superior quality. The water from these wells down of its own accord, rising above the top of the well and above the level of the water an average of three feet. The temperature of the water in some of these wells is about 50 degrees. The water is all connected with a 20-inch main pipe leading to the pumping station; the water is pumped to the city of Dayton and is distributed to the city of Dayton. COUNTRY EDUCATION.

MANUAL TRAINING AND COOKING SCHOOLS NEEDED.

The Village and Country Schools, as well as those in the City and Towns, are in need of practical education.

Practical education is needed in the country as well as in the city. There has been too little science, development and mind training.

In these neighborhood boys who expected to become clerks in the district are being made to leave their homes for city boarding houses, are becoming impressed with the interest as well as value of tools.

GOULD'S READY MONEY.

He Can Create a Fancie Any Time by Withdrawing $10,000,000.

How much is Jay Gould worth? His contemporaries, associates and critics put him down at about $100,000,000. I suppose it is not much exaggerated.

Money which flows like a liquid—like quicksilver, according to the inclination of the Asters, for example, does not have liquid money; their money is in real estate, upon which they could not realize in tight times as well as in loose times.

At what time he can withdraw from the market $10,000,000, or can keep it loaned. Now, the bank surplus is only $10,000,000. So you see the practical difficulty that money has in the mere ebb and flow of it.

His property is always earning money in cash. If he wishes to purchase some real estate property, like the Union Pacific railroad, he may put his money out to let interest accumulate upon it.

At what time he can withdraw from the market $10,000,000, or can keep it loaned. Now, the bank surplus is only $10,000,000.

A Snake Swallowed a Snake.

It was back somewhere in the sixties when the incident I am about to relate occurred. The date has not been put back so as to prevent a critical examination by the incredulous, but because it belongs to that period.

There were a number of us hunting prairie chickens. They were plentier then than they are now. It was but a little task to secure a bag of them. But only a few days have passed since a rare treat was afforded us by a young prairie chicken flier.

As we were tramping cautiously through the thick, low-growing grass, blue racer moved slowly out of our way. It was not the length of the snake that attracted our attention, but its unusual thickness and its indistinctness to get out of the way.

It had the opportunity now, I would have thought, to make nearly as good a meal as it could. I would measure the length and thickness of both snakes, but I was sure to find that one was longer than the other.

I had heard that snakes swallowed toads and frogs without dissection, but I had never seen one do so. I was sure to find that one was longer than the other.

IN LOVERS' WALK.

In Lovers' Walk the wind is wild. To fight and left the trees are filled. Or written amid the branches bare.

With frosts then the woods were aloft: The freshest rose and sweetest bird. Were found by those who wandered there.

All He Could Get For Ten Cents. A young Bostonian visiting this city, and who thought himself very smart, was recently sold by a girl named "Pretending" to something of an epicure.

He was praising the sea products found near the fish, when a Philadelphia lawyer remarked: "But you should eat our oysters. They would knock you silly."

Women and Age. I just wonder what makes some women so mean to other women about the question of age. I was at a reception the other afternoon—not a man in sight—goodness wasn't it dull, and one girl said to another:
