MR. McMILLIN PRESIDES

ELECTED SPEAKER FOR TERM WITHOUT A DISSENTING VOICE.

The House Ready for the Introduction of Hills-Senator Hill's Appearance Eagerly Awaited but He's Appeared to Only Business—He Sent Aid to Russia.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The Fifty-second congress is once more in session, and this time it is ready for business. It will probably continue in session with but few trifling interruptions until the summer adjournment, which will, it is thought, be some time in July.

There was the usual crowd in the galleries and about the same amount of interest was displayed in the proceedings. Speaker Crisp was too ill to appear, and when Clerk Kerr had called the house to order, announced the illness of the speaker, and stated that it would be necessary for the house to elect a speaker pro tempore. Mr. Springer nominated Benton McMillin of Tennessee. There was no dissenting vote, and Mr. McMillin, amid a burst of generous applause, took the speaker's chair, which he will hold during the illness of Mr. Crisp.

The election of McMillin relieved a great many members who feared that the house would adjourn from day to day until the recovery of the speaker. As that is a very uncertain thing, for the speaker to-day is no better than he was during the last week, the prospect of remaining several weeks inactive in Washington was far from pleasing.

This applied particularly to those young men who do not do anything but occasionally take a day with the boys. As a rule, they take considerable liquor along with the day, but yesterday he clipped the climax. He imagined that he had been given a large flat-iron, and he had packed it in his trunk. He had a trunk full of packages. Subsequently he found $5,000 of the money on the street as he supposed, but the package proved to be a large flat-iron. A brilliant idea crept into his mind. He had a trunk full of packages. He had a trunk full of packages. He had a trunk full of packages.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—There was a lot of disappointment in the senate galleries today. The bill for the relief of Dave Hill had not put in an appearance. The crowd, eager to catch a sight of him, assembled early, and in hopes that he would arrive on a delayed train staid in every street in the city. The bill had not put in an appearance. WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Shortly after the opening of the house today a special messenger from the White House made his appearance. Ordinarily it might be supposed that the governor would be his party. But Hill's estimate of Flower's political ability is not a great one. He will not, therefore, be expected until next week.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The message was almost painful. But the pain gave way to anger when the clerk, instead of reading words which he had said in phrases about the correct spelling of geographical names.

There was nothing in the message, though, that proved more interesting. It was a presidential recommendation that congress should be authorized to transport a cargo of grain to the starving inhabitants of Russia. The president wrote that he had been informed that cargo would be soon ready but there was no vessel in the way available.

Admiral at Four O'clock. The house today called the states for the introduction of bills consumed the time until a few minutes of 4 o'clock, when the order was suspended. The call had been made at the usual hour, and the order would be continued when the house meets tomorrow. At 4 o'clock Mr. Erbe moved an adjournment, but gave way to the protest of South Dakota, who announced in a few words the death of his colleague, John R. Gamble. He sent to the speaker of South Dakota, who was pressing the profound sorrow of the house when he adjourned.

MINNESOTA ALLIANCE

The State Welfare Now Being Held at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 5.—The State Farmers' Alliance met in annual session here today with about 700 delegates in attendance.

The morning was spent in the working preliminary organization and in the working of the annual address of Ignatius Donnelly, the president. This dealt for the most part with financial and other affairs of the Alliance, with references to the political achievements of the organization, especially in the last legislature.

Although there has been no little talk of a rift between the Alliance and the Democrats, the leaders declare that the subject will not come up at this meeting. It is their plan to set on foot the organization of the People's Party, of which the Alliance will give the leadership. In the person of Patrick Ferris, who was brought by the police in a demoralized condition, this city has a fair sample of Nervosis, the man who threw the bomb which came near ending the life of Russell Sage of New York. Ferris is employed by M. A. Adrian in the city. He is a man who occasionally takes a day with the boys. GRAND RAPIDS MATCH, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1892.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY McKNIGHT states that he has a list of seven feet long of the names of citizens who have attended the Sunday performances of Redmond's opera house.

He alleges that the law is very plain and he has no doubt that each individual will be secured in his individual case.

McKnight should remember that he has made some serious blunders ere as well as the taxpayers at large that a conviction from a court of record should be secured in the case of Mayor Burroughs before he begins his slaughter. He should also remember that Eastman, Johnson and Hurley have been captured by Manager Burroughs for $25,000 damages for false imprisonment and are now under $5,000 bonds.

The other three deputies made their arrest at daylight and Sheriff Dan and Sheriff-elect Roy Guyman were killed and Deputy Sheriff Sid Nixon is missing. A REMOVED APOLOGY

PRESIDENT HARRISON WILL NOT TRANSFER HIS CHAIRS CORRESPONDENCE.

The Tone at Washington is Decidedly More Peaceful—Many Humors but Official Professions—American and Blaine are in Perfect Harmony.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The Chilian situation took a sudden turn today owing to the receipt of a rumor from Valparaiso to the effect that the government at Santiago had offered Governor Montt, minister here, to offer a sincere and unqualified apology to the United States for the assault upon the sailors of the Baltimore. No mention was made of the indemnity demanded by the government.

This rumor could not be verified here in any way. At the state department it was announced that no information had been received that Chilli is not to apologize and the official seemed satisfied with their professions of ignorance upon the subject.

It had been expected that the Chilian cabinet would be reformed by the President today, but this course has been abandoned in view of the fact that the cabinet members of his government would contribute to the literature of the question at a very rapid rate. MR. BURROUGHS SEES THE POLICE OFFICIALS FOR FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

Eastman, Johnson and Hurley Arrested Upon a Capias—Bill Furnished by the Commissioner in Sum of $25,000—Attorneys of the Complaint.

William H. Eastman, superintendent of police; John Johnson, captain of police, and William John Hurley, lieutenant of police, were arrested yesterday on a capias sworn out in the circuit court by Sheriff McQueen, manager of Redmond's opera house, and served by Sheriff McQueen.

The affidavit upon which the writ was based is based upon a raid made by William John Hurley at Redmond's opera house Sunday evening, September 20, 1891, at which time plaintiff Burroughs and the members of the Rocky Mountain Wolf opera company were arrested without process, illegally imprisoned and compelled to give bail for their appearance.

The writ sets out that prior to the raid the deponent as manager of Redmond's opera house and as the agent of Brady E. Greenwood, proprietors and lessees of said opera house, had advertised for a night at Sunday evening, Sept. 20, 1891, at which time plaintiff Burroughs and the members of the Rocky Mountain Wolf opera company were arrested without process, illegally imprisoned and compelled to give bail for their appearance.
