

THESE WERE RACES.

Immense Crowd and Fast Time at the Park.

Splendid Burst of Speed by Nancy Hanks and Hal Pointer.

What a rush there was! What a rush there was! What a jubilation, jamming crush there was!

Everything was present at the Grand Park races yesterday afternoon. The spectators were satisfied that the speed was present and the weather clerk furnished just enough breeze to cool the cheeks of the fair ones that congregated in the vast amphitheater-like flowers among this.

The quarter stretch, or betting ring, was littered jammed with excited spectators, men and when the result of a race was announced there was a rush and haste in the air, curses, low but deep, were wafted to the pretty pink girls of those in the boxes and caused pretty lips to part and bright eyes to gleam resentment.

The pace of racing yesterday was not even chronicled in it when the noble Hal Pointer crossed under the wire in 2:30 the fastest mile ever paced in a race in this or any other country. When the announcement was given that the first three dogs, enormous stunts, the crowd remained hushed for a moment as if the fall import of the horses had not been felt, when suddenly as if some unseen power had moved them, they all started to start.

When Nancy Hanks appeared the ladies were beside themselves and that had already fallen love with the first three dogs as once checked their affection for the gazelle like Nancy who will forever remain the idol of those who watched her electric movement.

The black beauty Direct gave an exhibition of his temper before the third heat of his race and unduly like a spoiled child. The ladies at once flocked to their first love and many exclamations of pity could be heard coming from the stands such as "why did he do that?" "poor little fellow I sorry he is," and other like expressions.

The favorites all won, and Hal Pointer made many men glad and many sorrowful. A great excitement was entered into the race by the backers of Nightingale when Steve Whipple was entered at the front line and the crowd was finished they went to the beer trough and drank nervously.

the others by five lengths. All the way to the finish the pace was 1:55, but let her job home. Not a hair on her was seen when she crossed the wire in 2:25 1/2.

Freehold's 2-year-old colts for a purse of $1000. Hal Pointer, 2:30; Nancy Hanks, 2:30; Steve Whipple, 2:30; Nightingale, 2:30; Muta Wilkes, 2:30; Independence, 2:30; Dorico, 2:30; Muta Wilkes drew the pole and led a magnificent burst of speed on the last quarter and closed the gap but lost his feet and fell to the rear. Muta Wilkes winning a job in 2:25 1/2.

Second Heat—The horses got off in good shape with Wilkes in the lead. She had a "corner on the market" and led by five lengths when the wire was reached. Nightingale in 2:25 1/2.

Third Heat—This was but a repetition of the first two, Wilkes winning by ten lengths in 2:15.

Fourth Heat—The heat was a "corner" and the horses remained bunched until the half-mile post was reached when Nightingale broke into the front. The horses ran a good race and neck until the 100 yard post was passed when Steve Whipple broke and Nightingale sailed under the wire a winner in 2:19.

Second Heat—The heat created the most intense excitement and the finish was the skill of the judges to decide and they asked for time to give their decision.

The horses remained together half way around when Steve Whipple broke and fell to the rear. Nightingale and Steve Whipple finished very close, Nightingale leading by a neck. Steve Whipple, with mastery skill, pulled her on her feet, but not quick enough, as Steve Whipple crossed under the wire in 2:19.

Fourth Heat—Nightingale did not disappoint her admirers and led all the way to the finish. Steve Whipple stretched and falling in the rear. Time, 2:19 1/2.

Fifth Heat—The heat decided the race and the favorite, Nightingale, won in a job in 2:19 1/2.

After the third heat of the 2:19 trot Nancy Hanks, the greatest trotter on the track, such as "why did he do that?" "poor little fellow I sorry he is," and other like expressions.

The favorites all won, and Hal Pointer made many men glad and many sorrowful. A great excitement was entered into the race by the backers of Nightingale when Steve Whipple was entered at the front line and the crowd was finished they went to the beer trough and drank nervously.

One of the most sublime sights witnessed was that of a noble steeple chaser, such as "why did he do that?" "poor little fellow I sorry he is," and other like expressions.

Colonel Aldrich, beaming in front of him a little child. Amid the din of a thousand voices and the cheering of the crowd, he led, and was apparently the child of the other horses.

The scene under the grand stand began to describe and the Duke could alone do justice. Imagine 4,000 men with the gambling mania, and the wheel would whirl and the excitement. Everything was forgotten but the chance of gain, and the wheel would whirl and the excitement.

They are off. The colts make a lively race and do them selves proud. The first race was the 3-year-old stake race for a purse of $1,000, with $500 extra given if 2:15 was beaten.

Magnolia brought $100 and the field $90. No pool was made in the 3:30 3-year-old race.

When the cash was counted up late last night it was found that $92,000 had been bet on the races. Most of the money was from sporting men who had bet on the races for a 1919 season taking long chances by betting on the favorites.

Among the heaviest plungers were Joseph Stevens of Buffalo, whose roll was $10,000; John W. Bush, the pilot who plungered for $4,000; John Gray of Cleveland, who won $5,000 straight on Lobosack; L. Brack of Cleveland, who lightened his purse of $1,000; and Chet Moran and Captain Melrose of Detroit, who went together in a $5,000 pool on Flying Jib.

Tomorrow the races will be excellent, and the consensus of opinion is that the gambling mania will reach the zenith.

N. Y. Woman's Voice

Michigan Should Be Made a Battle Ground.

The State Alleged to Be in a Transitional Period Politically.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The New York World comes out today with a double-edged leader in its editorial columns, calling on the Democratic national committee to turn its attention to Michigan and to make that state one of the main fighting grounds of the campaign.

The article is in line with the ambitious effort which the same paper makes to carry Rhode Island a few weeks ago. It revives the political history of Michigan since 1835, showing how the state has been shifting its allegiance, starting as a Democratic state for Andrew Jackson in 1835, then going to Harrison in 1840, then back to the Democrats in 1844, etc.

While the tariff was an issue, Michigan was against the high protection policy of Clay, but when that seemed to be settled and slavery came to the front, and people of this state, largely from the West, New York became a stronghold of the Republicans. It was their birth under the stars at Jackson, one of the first leaders of the party in the state, energetic, intense man, who held the state and inspired its people from his Michigan residence.

Coming down to the present day, the article says: "Every effort should be put forth by the Democratic national committee to win a substantial victory in the Peninsula state. Michigan has given up its devotion to the Republican party on general principles slowly and reluctantly. Four years the organization has dominated the state has been in a minority. A union of anti-Republicans, who are large in number, is the result of the question, would probably give nine electoral votes against Mr. Harrison."

One of an Extensive Gang Arrested by Marshall Brewster. E. A. Abbott of the United States secret service is on the high road to the state of Michigan.

There are other operators implicated with Letson. The authorities expect to arrest about July 15, but have only a few days and they hope to secure a number of operators.

REPUBLICANS WILL STIR UP THE ALABAMA MUSS.

An Effort Will Be Made to Show Up the Ballot-Box Fraud.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Honest voters of the North will be furnished with evidence of the glaring frauds perpetrated to save Alabama to the Democratic party. This evidence will be conclusively by a contest in the Alabama courts, and possibly in the United States courts.

The whole affair is thoroughly ventilated by the national committee of the management of the national campaign said to a reporter today: "Kolb was elected governor of Alabama. We can make this clear at the proper time. Southern Democrats are allowed to depart, but they have overreached themselves at last. This election will be carried into the courts and we will prove that Jones was beaten. We will not have to do this by testimony of his own lips, but by the evidence of the ballot-box frauds in Alabama, and the testimony will be appaling to the voters of the North. Kolb's plans were well laid. He knew his strength among the whites, and when he asked Republican assistance, he was granted. It was understood that the black belt would be the scene of the Democratic struggle."

A HOT MORNING BLAZE

The Slave and Priestly Express Cos. Heavy Losers.

At 1:20 this morning flames were discovered bursting from the buildings of the Grand Rapids Slave company, 310 South Front street. The flames had gained considerable headway before they were discovered, and as the buildings were of frame and filled with highly inflammable material, it was apparent from the first that the fire would be a hot and disastrous one.

No. 8 was the first to arrive upon the scene with a hose cart, but they were handicapped owing to the removal of their engine to the east side of the river after the Powers opera house fire. They coupled on what streams they could with the hose and did their best to prevent the spread of the flames, but the large pile of cooperage in the yard, which came from the east side arrived and set their engines but they too were crippled on account of not having enough hose. The boys fought bravely to keep the flames down in spite of the fact that work the large building owned by Hull, Whitman & Hewes and occupied by the Priestly Express Wagon & Sleigh company was soon in flames.

Eleven men were employed in the flames down in spite of the fact that work the large building owned by Hull, Whitman & Hewes and occupied by the Priestly Express Wagon & Sleigh company was soon in flames.

The loss could not be learned this morning, but it is said to be very heavy. The express wagon & Sleigh company's. The Slave company also loses heavily, its loss being principally on the staves and heading piled in the yard.

James A. Hunt, secretary and treasurer of the slave company and president of the Priestly Express Wagon & Sleigh company could not be found last night and it is supposed he is spending his vacation at the northern resorts. As the fire broke out at 1 o'clock, and after coming out, it was possible that when two men walked through the yard. He thought the flames were going to come out into the engine room to blow out the flues and while doing so discovered the fire. He is of the opinion that the men set the fire.

WARRING IN THE CAMP

Dickinson and Campau at Daggers' Point.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 11.—Everything possible has been done by the local Democratic leaders to hide the election. The only quarrel which D. J. Campau and M. Dickinson have been carrying on for some time. The principals have smiled suavely when asked about the fight and have declared persistently a predilection for each other, but the fight has been hidden from the world in a measure was officially torn away this morning and the parties discovered not embracing each other in a friendly manner.

The revelation, as stated, was official. It was so made this morning to the news papers by an envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the great D. J. Campau.

"You may say," declared this gentleman, "that those who are being induced to give their adherence to Campau by the promise of federal offices in the event of a Cleveland election are being badly deceived. They will get nothing out of Campau because he is a member of the national committee he is a member of the national committee he is a member of the national committee."

With all these things demanded and the appropriations already exceeding the revenue by $50,000,000 yearly it is easily to be seen that the country is not in a position to meet the requirements of the government.

The campaign of the people's party according to reports from headquarters is progressing very encouragingly.

The Republicans seem to be having their own way in Michigan this year to a remarkable degree.

Had Taste in Jewel Designs. There are some innovations for which it is difficult to account. Why will a woman wear a good looking picture to hang on her person a matriarchal big or frowse made out of gold and diamonds?

What is the matter with them? Seeing a woman in the first place wearing the should not imitate natural objects. It is a long story why, but I will try to abridge it.
