Which Fair Will You Visit Today?

A Great Exhibition but Slow Races at the North End Grounds.

The West Michigan fair was formally opened yesterday morning. The weather was almost perfect for the occasion.

The attendance was not what it should have been, but compared favorably with the opening day of preceding fairs.

It was long in the afternoon when everything was in its place and the tired workmen threw down their hammers and saws and the busy women sat down and smiled contentedly.

The main exhibition hall is the first place that attracts attention as the visitor enters the grounds, and it gives a good idea of the magnificence and splendor of the show.

Next the barking of hundreds of dogs will attract the visitor to the Michigan Kennel club's bench show.

The exhibit of dogs is certainly "worth the price of admission," and "man's best friend" is there in all its different modes and breeds.

The noble mastiffs and St. Bernard's invite the visitor to pat them on the head, and the little black and tan and grey terriers bark a shrill note to the deep bass of the blood hounds.

The most valuable dog at the show is the pointer dog Ossian, owned by P. W. The owner of Indianapolis, who has been offered $1000 for the dog.

Among which is a Siberian wolfhound, are valued at nearly as much. O. A. Ball's magnificent St. Bernard, "Don," and George Reed's beautiful black and tan dog named "Bobby," are among those most admired, but the ladies go on ecstatically over all of them, that is, those that don't bark and bite.

THE VETERANS IN LINE. The G. A. R. Parade a Magnificent Success.

Thousands of the Old Boys March Over the Course They Trod in '61.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The parade of veterans today was a great success. Throughout the entire afternoon Pennsylvania street from the Capitol to Twenty-second street was given over to the marching band, and what flags flew and banners played, the old boys of '61 paraded over the same route they traversed then.

The weather continued propitious until the long parade was concluded, though the sky clouded and the air grew cool towards evening. There was not a dull moment in the day, and until the last platoon passed, the interested crowds maintained their stations and cheered. There were many bands of music, some of the highest rank, but few drums were seen to please the most.

Pennsylvania had 15,102 men in line. Massachusetts had 9,000 men. Regiments of various organizations are being drilled every where, and there are many pleasant scenes.

The Twenty-fourth army corps held a reunion at headquarters at 5 o'clock. Mrs. John A. Logan tendered a reception this evening at her home at 1500 North Dearborn street. The department of G. A. R. W. E. C. of Illinois, and the department of G. A. R. of Michigan, were present.

The most magnificent display of fireworks ever seen in this city was viewed here tonight by enormous crowds. The display was made at the grounds was occupied. Frames had been erected on which were designs prepared by the committee. The display was a grand success.

Phenomenal success of an Old Newspaper.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 20.—Half a million dollars made in nine months on an investment of $100 is a story that sounds like a Mulholland tale, and yet it is a simple story that is borne out by fact in the N. M. Tuck, known as a newspaper man on the coast, is the man who has worked the tide of fortune to the extent and manner stated above.

About nine months ago Colonel Muncy sold a group of prospecting rights in Idaho a short distance from Oboena, Idaho. All the money he had to invest, according to his own statement made to your correspondent, was $100. All he expected to do was to represent the claim for a year or so in order to ascertain what there was in them. He went to work slowly and cautiously. Not having the money to hire many men, he went into them himself.

The prospects showed extraordinary richness of free milling silver and they are now known to have and the Com. H. H. Nelson, the Mineral Point and the Emma. A stock company was organized, the main object for large amounts of stock were subsequently sold for $200,000 each over and above the bond interest.

George E. Bell was arrested at Ann Arbor on Saturday morning, Sept. 19, with intent to kill. He shot at his son twice, and when arraigned admitted his guilt.
